Top quality promotional items when you need them

Branded promotional items are playing an increasingly important – and increasingly successful – role in the marketing mix of many businesses. Often they form part of long-term strategies, complementing ad campaigns or direct mail shots.

But just as often they have to meet an immediate need – a presentation, a conference, an exhibition. Sometimes as immediate as later the same week.

Which is why there are three things you need in your branded promotional items partner. The ability to deliver real value for money and to match budgets. The ability to supply a comprehensive range of top quality items, printed to your exact specifications. And the ability to supply those items exactly when you require them – even if it is later the same week.

We like to think that we excel at all three. Trust us with your brand and, whatever the item, you will have the perfect way of promoting your business. What's more, chances are, you will have it within days, not the weeks it takes most of our competitors.

That's because the majority of our items are kept ready in stock, so there are no delays, no order chains, no waiting on third parties who may not have your interests quite as much at heart as we do.

And, of course, you get to enjoy prices that are as competitive as you are likely to find.

We deliver your promotional items faster, so you get to promote your business quicker.

The service

This brochure sets out just some of the promotional items we can supply, from mugs to t-shirts, from USB drives to sewing kits. To make things easy for you, we have included the print specifications with each item so you know exactly how your logo or branding will look. As for quantities, we are as adept at fulfilling large scale orders as we are smaller runs.
